THE STATE CAPITAL.

Final Adjournment of the Legislature.

FAILURE OF THE APPORTIONMENT BILL

The Speaker's Address and Certificate of Character to the Members.

THE SENATE IN EXTRA SESSION.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE HERALD.]

ALBANT, N. Y., May 24, 1877. journed, and the members of the lower House, like trollesome school boys, are hurrying away, the Senstors, meanwhile, remaining behind in extra session for the trial of Bank Superintendent Ellis. What, perchance, may add to the exuberance of the departing islators is the certificate of good character given them by the Speaker, who, no doubt, regardful of the taint on many of their predecessors, thought that the absence of any open and notorious bribery and corruption a thing worth special mention, and so he made it. Nevertheless, these honest representa-tives of the people managed to swindle their constituents by adjourning without the performance of their constitutional duty in the passage of the apportion-ment bill. The result would seem to indicate that, rom the start, the republicans had determined to let well enough alone, and very sharp and satisfactory to complished. Woodin's bill in the Senate. though far from providing for a just apportionment, ected and gave them such increased advantages for egaining the control of the State that they detered to accept. To one acquainted with the devious ways of the machine politicians their anticipations such a measure would be passed in the face of the republican majority indi-cated a "freshness" which could only have been orn of a hope delerred which made their heads A disagreement between the two houses fol-d as a matter of course and a conference combie." also as a matter of course, and Mr. Woodin's oncur in the resolution for a final adjournment without one sigh of regret for the defeat of the measure which he had held up as one of unexampled fairness. MR. WOODIN'S REPORT.

In making his report from the Conference Commit-see, Mr. Woodin said that the committee got together ast evening and consulted upon the points upon which shole subject and of one another. Another meeting was held to-day at noon, at which the House committee presented its ultimatum. The House mittee presented its ultimatum. The House was willing that the Senate districts should stand as organized in the Senate bill but declined to make any concessions in regard to the Assembly as organized in the Assembly bill. The Assembly bill gives New York twenty-three Assemblymen, Kings twelve, Columbia two, Broome two, Suffolk one, which has a large traction. It takes one Assemblyman from Uister. The bill refuses to apply the same rule to Albany, Eric and Monroe requiring a fraction to each member. If the rule was thus applied Eric would have four members, Munroe three and Albany three, The difference between the two houses were irreconcilable.

The report of the committee was then read and agreed to, and then came the motion to concur in the adjournment resolution.

APPORTS OF THE DEMOCRATS.

The democrats made some slight agreed.

The democrate made some slight opposition to this, evidently in the nature of a foriorn hope. Mr. Jacobs said the Assembly ought to be given another opportunity to agree. It the Legislature adjourned without passing an apportionment bill it would be called together again. It would be well to avoid, if possible, an extra session. The Senator from the Twenty-fifth (Mr., Woodin) had reported a lair bill to the Senate, and another effort ought to be made to induce the Assembly to agree to it.

Mr. Woedin replied that the failure of the Apportion ment bill could not be charged to the republican members of the Legislature. He had presented a bill to which he supposed there would be little or no objection. He had meant to and thought he had successed in drawing a fair bill. But he was convinced that the foune would not reconsider its action. The Senate had done its duty, and had tried to give the people that to which they are entitled under the constitution.

concurrent motion of flust adjournment in on and could do with it what it thought another effort ought to be made two houses on an apportune and been on the Code bill, and yet an agreement was at length reached on the latter bill. He hoped the Senate would not tie itself up by passing the resolution.

Mr. Prince was opposed to pressing the motion for small adjuarment at this time. If no apportionment bill was passed, he hoped the Governor would call the legislature together to-morrow. He regretted that the two flouses could not be compelled by mandamus to full the constitutional obligation imposed upon them.

Mr. Jacobs moved to amend the original motion so as to provide that it should not be considered until three o'clock, which was lost.

The motion to adjourn size die at four o'clock was then concurred in.

The motion to adjourn sine die at four o'clock way then concurred in.

In the lower House a message was received from the Senate transmitting the report of the Conterence Committee on the Apportonment bill to the effect that they had not reached an agreement thereon, and their differences were irreconcilable, when Mr. Alvord moved that the House adhere to its position, and upon that he moved the previous question, which was ordered, and the motion carried by a party vote, and so the republican majority for the second time have neglected to perform a duty required of them by the constitution whose provisions its members had sworn to observe.

The LAST HOURS.

The flush hours of the escasion were devoted to the pussage of bills, which, as usual on such occasions, were rushed through with the greatest celerity, every member, on the reciprocity principle of "you tickle me and I'll tickle you," hurrying forward his own little local pet scheme to a successful issue.

Is the Senate no special formalities took place. The townittee to wait on the Governor reported that the Governor reported that the Governor heaves of lour o'clock having arrives, the Frestdent announced that the Senate slood adjourned.

In the Assembly, Mr. Maynard in the chair, Mr. Cozans, with a lew brief words of introduction, offered the following:—

Resolved, That the thanks of this House are decased are hereby earneanty tendered to 10th. George R. Monh for the

Resolved. That the thanks of this House are due and are hereby carneauty tendered to Hon. Usorge R. Sions for the able, dignified, courteous and impartial manner in which he has disharred the duties of Speaker during the present cession of the Assembly.

hereby earnestly tendered to Hon. Weeper H. Michi Fer Hable, dignified, courteous and importial manner in which he has discharged the duties of Speaker during the present easien of the Assembly.

Messra Purdy, Ecclesine, Spinola, Husted, Alvord, Rugglea, Grady and Helahan spoke to the resolution, expressing in warm forms their respect and admiration for the Speaker's character and ability and his courtesy and fairness as a presiding officer. The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

The Speaker resumed the chair and committees were named to wait on the Governor and Senate. A resolution of thanks was offered to the clerks, and the hour of four o'clock strived.

THE SPEAKER'S PAREWELL ADDRESS.

Speaker Sloom addressed the House as follows:—

GRATLEMEN OF THE ASSEMBLY—For more than one hundred and thirty days yon have been in sinest constant as constant with each wher in the discharge of the duties committed to you by the peops of a great and prosperous commonwealth. the unwelcome messages were amounced within this chamber. It is not too much to say the admonitions of these events, reminding us as they do of the fragile tenure of our own existence, passed not without their impress and not without their salorary lessons.

A single word and my last official act of the session will have been performed. In assuming the responsibility of presiding over your geliberations I am frank to admit I expected something of apprehension; I experienced embarrassment; I apprenated the uncertain consequences of the undertaking, but I relied on your orbearance, I trusted to your generality and, with grateful recollections of the charraty you have ever been willing to throw about my faults, covering them with expressions of approbation as you have to-day, an overflowing heart hears testimony now that such reliance was not mistaken, such considered was not vini. Morrissey's Omnibus bill, all the features of which have been published in the Herald.

Hayes' New York Pipe Company bill. This is a bill that underwent a good deal of controversy, and there are people who still think that the bill had the fragrance of a job about it, but its owner and engineer, Dr. Isaac Hayes, polar explorer, stands so high in the community, especially in his relation to rapid transit, that it would be at least incorrect to assume that the bill is not all it is represented to be.

Cowdin's bill making it a misdemeanor for insurance companies to make false returns of their assets, &c.

Bulmer's bill, making the lare on the Intrivioura street lerry three cents through the twonty-lour hours. Fish's finance bill, a very long and staberate measure, to which Mr. Fish simply londs one name, but is the work of half a dozen men, principally Comptroller Kelly, Mayor Ely and sonn H. Mooney, Commissioner of Accounts. This bill is purely technical, and even if published would be cavare to the general public, but it may be said that its provisions contemplate a saving of money to the taxpayers of New York.

INSURANCE INVESTIGATION.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24, 1877. During the examination of the affairs of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company, of this city, to-day, Walter Brown, Secretary of the company, testified that the company held collaterals for $50,000 of the amount deposited with the Hope Banking Company and that even should they lose the balance they would be able to pay policy holders 100 cents on the dollar of liabilities and have a balance of $20,000 for the stockholders. He thought the balance would all be realized in time, which would leave over $80,000 surplus.

The examination will be continued next Monday.

PHRENOCOSMIAN SOCIETY.

The Phrenocosmian Society of the College of the City of New York will celebrate this evening, at the Academy of Music, the twenty-fifth anniversary of its organization. The Presidential address is to be delivered by Mr. Lewis S. Burchard, of the class of 1877, and the address to the graduates by General H. E. Tremain, of this city. Judging from the attractive-ness of the society's anniversary celebrations of the past lew years the celebration of the anniversary this evening will be a grand aftair.

at No. 97 Rivington street yesterday morning. There was a bullet hole in his left temple, with clotted blood around it, and a pistel lay near his hand on the floor. It was a plan case of suicide. The story of Adolph's miery was related to the Cor-savings bank and drew thence 5.00, when he is them for their support. Then nowent to work at his trade.

Last Monday being a holiday generally observed by his countrymen, Rau determined to visit his family in Brooklyn. When he called at the house of his wife she refused to let him in or to see his chidren, he made several fruitless efforts to get at them, and then returned to New York in a state of great despondency, and visited several drinking places. That night he lost $280 at cards, and continued his debauch until Tuesday. On Wednesday he called at Paul Schremp!'s saloon, in Mott street, where he pulled out $50 in bills, which he declared he had obtained in a pawn shop on a gold watch and chain and ring, worth $50. He arteet very strangely, and drew a revolver, which he bandled so carelessly that the proprietor requested him to put it away. He said that he was going to kill himself with it as he had no desire to live any longer. Between this time and his suicide on Wednesday afternoon he wrote several letters to his wife, children and friends. He bade them farewell, asked their forgiveness, and gave instructions about the disposition of his body. He likewise charged his wife with being the cause of his suicide, and then, it is supposed, shot himself. The post-mortem was held on him yesterday by Deputy Coroner Goldschmidt.

"I AM DISHONORED."

MYSTERIOUS SUICIDE OF A WEALTHY YOUNG

DOCTOR. Dr. Claude Graham Stanley, a young gentleman of good professional practice and ample means, last evening committed suicide in his studio for some reason that has not transpired, but which seems to be connected with family troubles. Dr. Stanley went out yesterday afternoon to meet his five o'cleck he appeared as the door and as house crying, "I am dishonored; yes, I am now disgraced forever." He seemed to rogain his composure, however, and went up stars. The servant had almost fergotten the occurrence at the door when a faint shreek sounded in the room above. The girl hurried to the room, where she saw Dr. Stanley strotched upon the bed, his face convulsed and his hands clutching with a quick, spasmedte movement. Dr. Ramsey was sent for and came to the house only in time to find that life was extinct. The young doctor had put an end to himself with the contents of the visi that was still in his hand. This, it was found, contained hydro-cyanic acid slightly

THE MATSON SUICIDE.

ound on Wednesday floating near Riker's Island, was brought from Asteria last night by permission of the Queens county Coroner and taken to an undertaking establishment in this city, where it now lies. Young Mr. Matson, the sun of the diseased, says that it was during a sudden mental derangement that his father committed suicide. His loss of spirits, his dejection and morbid brooding over evils which he imagined would occur, were entirely inconsistent with his character. Several years ago he was afflicted in the same way, but only for a time. His spirits became depressed; he had dismal forebodings, and he held himself spart from social intercourse. After a white, however, he rallied, and before long resumed his wonted cheerfulness. His property, which is valued at from $250,000 to $390,000, has suffered no depreciation, and he has had no family froubles that could affect his mind. Young Mr. Matson further stated that he had been told that the Coroner has in his possession $5,000 in bonds which were found upon the dead man's person. Dr. Terry, of No. 105 East Seventy-eight street. in bonds which were found upon the dead mine's person. Dr. Terry, of Nc. 105 East Seventy-eighth street, was the first to hear about the finding of the body, and he it was who identified it at Riker's Island. When the disappearance of Mr. Matson was first make known at the New York Central Office Detective Radiord was instructed to investigate the case and a notice giving a description of the deceased was widely circulated. No trace of the missing man, however, was discovered at the time. A steward on board the Granite State furnished the only information regarding him after his taking passagirom Hartford that could be gleaned. This person told Detective Radiord that a gentleman answering Mr. Matson's description had left his stateroom during the night, without his coat on, and walked up and down the cabin muttering to himself. The steward, who noticed this, kept a sharp watch upon him, but seeing him at hat sea thimself and fall asleep, he though to more of the matter and left him alone. Reaching New York, however, this man failed to see the passenger whose actions he had noted the night before leave the boat, and he never saw him after. The inquest was opened at Astoria last night.

THE DOUBLE SUICIDE.

THE FUNERAL OF THE VICTIMS-MR. STEIN-MACHER'S BEASONS FOR SUICIDE.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Steinmacher, who com mitted suicide at their residence, No. 29 Boerum street, Williamsburg—she on Monday and he on Wednesday—were buried at the Lutheran Cemetery, yesterday morning without any religious ceremony whatever. After the funoral a search was made in the premises, and Coroner Noian found about $1,300 h United States bonds and a quantity of jewelry, which he took possession of and placed a police officer in charge of the premises. He also found a letter from the deceased man addresged to his son, which showed clearly that he had made up his mind to enloide the mement his wife was dead. Yet he coolly flasshed up his business and made his will during the twenty-foor hours that supervened between his resolution and his death. The tenor of the letter is that, being always in trouble, he had strength to meet fate until the last blow struck him. He charged his wife as being the cause of all the difficulty between them, her high temper and strong will causing the disgrace that had falion on the family, and he should therefore follow her. He left instructions for the conduct of the business and the administration of the estate, and, begging for lorgiveness, inscribes himself
"Your ever loving father." The inquest will be held by Coroner Nolan this afternoon. nesday-were buried at the Lutheran Cemetery, yes-

OBITUARY.

William H. Kennedy, one of the most successful steamship captains plying out of this port, and lately in command of the steamship Clyde, plying between this port and Havana, was buried in Greenwood yesterday, from his late residence in Brooklyn. Captain Kennedy was for many years in the service of Measts. Williams & Guion, in command of their steamship, the Virginia, plying between this port and Galvesson, Texas. The deceased was always known as an able and courgeous shipmaster, and he was never known to have an accident of any note to the vessel he commanded, through his fault. Among the saliors present at his funeral were Captain Dewar, port superintendent of the Williams & Guion line, Captain Doughty, of the Ashland, Captain Reid, of the Golumbus. The deceased was a well-knows Freemason and had attained the degree of a Knight Templar. Representatives of lodges Nos. 186, 569 and Clinton Commandery No. 14 were present, and accompanied the remains of their brother to his last resting place. in command of the steamship Clyde, plying between
